ABOUT AL REYAMI

Al Reyami Steel Construction is a division of Al Reyami Technical Services, an internationally focused structural steel conglomerate with a world-class team, dedicated purely for design, detail engineering, supply, fabrication and erection of steel structure in the GCC. With capabilities spanning the entire client value chain, we believe in operating an integrated business model with a comprehensive range of services offering single-source solutions for some of GCC's most prestigious public and private organizations.

We are dedicated to a culture that develops excellence and performance in all our services by being customer satisfaction oriented. This enables us to set stretching targets within the organization by applying four core elements into our service – client focus, innovation, quality and speed.

Our tradition has always been and will be to deliver services to our customers that are at par with the current market and at competitive rates that give us the edge among our competitors. Our scope of services include activities spanning from design, supply, fabrication, inspection & testing, blasting, painting, delivery to site and erection of steel structures including insulated roofing, walk cladding and roof ventilators.

Our approach to understanding client requirements and delivering on our promises is unwavering with a focus on building as in house team with significant experience in this field and are dedicated to meet client requirements regardless of the scale and complexity of the challenge in hand. We make sure that we collaborate with our client at every stage of the project, ensuring the best expertise and resources are deployed to achieve the required outcome with the highest standards of quality, safety, sustainability and meeting all the statutory requirements set forth by the respective governments in the GCC.
